Beehive Coaching & Leadership Development Ltd

17 October 2011

Beehive Welcomed to Wales Regional Training Cluster

Caernarfon company, Beehive Coaching & Leadership Development Ltd have just become part of the National Skills Academy for the nuclear provider network. They are currently the only Employer Nominated Provider in their field in Wales.

“The nuclear industry has an enormous role to play in helping the UK become energy independent, and also in helping us to reduce our carbon footprint. Here in North Wales it will play a crucial part in generating long term, sustainable, high quality employment,” said Mark Sykes. Mark and Co-Director Sara Lodge are proud to have been successful in becoming providers.

“We are delighted to welcome Beehive to the Wales Regional Training Cluster. The Skills Academy’s provider network is tasked with delivering excellence in skills for the nuclear sector. We look forward to working with Beehive at this exciting time of growth and development for the UK nuclear industry.” said Alli Hunt, the Welsh Regional Manager for the Skills Academy.

The Skills Academy has been established to ensure that the UK nuclear industry and its supply chain has the skilled, competent and safe workforce it needs to deal with the current and future UK nuclear programme.

“By becoming part of the Skills Academy’s provider network, employers can choose our products with confidence, after all, it was our customers who proposed our membership. We focus on developing management and leadership skills and we can contribute significantly to future success,” said Sara.

Beehive Specialises in culture change within organisations, in particular developing management and leadership skills to build highly effective teams, introducing coaching as a management style as well as a discreet activity. This results in organisations that are more productive, safer and more able to respond to the challenges they face. Their clients come from a wide range of private and public sector businesses.
